Monika Ladmanova @LadmanovaMonika @VeraJourova

After graduating from law school, Monika joined the non-governmental sector and started to work for the Czech Helsinki Committee as a lawyer for its Counseling Center for Refugees and Asylum Seekers. In 1999 she was appointed as coordinator for the newly established Legal Program within the Open Society Foundation Prague. She also coordinated the Foundation Gender Program. Several projects of the Open Society Fund Prague have been operated through the public benefit association Open Society, which Monika became an executive director in 2003. In 2008 Monika joined the IT giant IBM based in Czech Republic, where she promoted corporate social responsibility principles and values. Since December 2014, Monika has been an Advisor in the Cabinet of the Commissioner Vera Jourova, her areas of focus are gender equality, anti-discrimination and minorities and corporate social responsibility.

Dennis Abbott @DennisAbbott @B_M

Dennis Abbott is senior communications advisor at Burson-Marsteller Brussels. He joined the company from the European Commission, where he was spokesperson for education, culture, multilingualism, youth and sport in 2010-2014. He was previously the Commission's spokesperson for regional policy. Dennis has more than 20 years' experience in media and communications. He has held senior editorial roles at UK daily newspapers The Sun (NewsCorp) and Daily Mirror; he was also launch editor of London Docklands weekly The Wharf and editor of European Voice in Brussels before joining the EU Committee of the Regions in a senior communications role. A UK national, Dennis also served as a media spokesperson for the British Army in Iraq. He holds a BA Honours degree in Law.

Joanna Maycock @JoannaMaycock @EuropeanWomen

Joanna Maycock is the Secretary General of the European Women's Lobby (EWL), the largest umbrella organisation of women's associations in Europe working to promote women's rights. In 2015 the EWL celebrates its anniversary, 25 years of feminist action and activism all over Europe! Joanna has 20 years' professional experience in senior leadership and governance positions in the European and International Development NGO sector, always fighting for women's rights and gender equality in her various roles. Prior to joining the EWL, her most recent role was at ActionAid as Director for Country Coordination, and Head of Europe, and she also served as President of CONCORD, the European Confederation of Development NGOs. Joanna also has an experience working for migrant women's rights at the International Organization for Migration.

Alessia Mosca @alessiamosca

Alessia Mosca has been Member of the European Parliament since May 2014 and she works in the INTA Committee. Nominated Young Global Leader (WEF) in 2009, she was Rising Talent in 2010 (Women's Forum for the Economy and Society). As well as a Ph.D. in Political Sciences from the University of Florence, she holds a Bachelor in Philosophy from Cattolica University (Milan), a Master degree in Diplomacy from the ISPI (Milan), and a diploma in International Relations from SAIS Johns Hopkins. When she was a Member of the Italian Parliament, she signed the "Golfo-Mosca" law that introduces gender quotas in boards of listed companies in Italy.

Linda Scott @ProfLindaScott

Linda Scott is DP World Chair for Entrepreneurship and Innovation at Saïd Business School. Her research focuses on women's economic empowerment through market-based means. Professor Scott works with multinational companies, NGOs, and governments on programs designed to help women economically. She curates Power Shift: The Oxford Forum for Women in the World Economy, an annual symposium that brings institutions and individuals working on women's empowerment together to share learning and form collaborations. Professor Scott's vision of the women's economy was featured on the Financial Times' "Thinking Big" video series and her work has been covered by The Economist, BBC, The New York Times, the Guardian, and other world press vehicles. Her website is "The Double X Economy," which is syndicated by other women's interest sites. She blogs for the World Economic Forum, Bloomberg Businessweek, and Forbes.

Karin Raguin @kraguin

A graduate of the ISC Paris Business School, Karin Raguin started her career in 1996 in medical education, working with New York University; she then successively held various positions in training & HR development, in the industrial and the social fields.
